DETAIL ACTION

Notice to Applicant(s)

1. This application has been examined. Claims 1-10 are pending.
2. The prior art filed on August 28, 2003 has been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-3 and 5-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being anticipated by Morisawa (5,983,154).
5. As per claim 1, Morisawa disclose an engine control system for adjusting vehicle drivability based on an input from a vehicle operator which includes a transmission (see figure 1, item 2), a torque converter (see column 3, line 53), a throttle (see figure 1, item 30), a selector switch having a plurality of selector settings corresponding to a plurality of drive modes (see figure 1, item 4), and a controller for communicating with the selector and utilizing predetermined transmission shift points, torque converter and throttle position progression data based on a current selector setting chosen by the vehicle operator (see at least figures 2, 3, column 4, line 17 to column 5, line 25).

Art Unit: 3661

6. As per claim 2, Morisawa also disclose a display for displaying a current mode selected (see at least column 5, lines 48-51).

7. As per claim 3, Morisawa disclose that the selector switch 4 which is an electrically-actuated switch since it electrically provide input to the electronic control unit 3 (see column 3, line 66 to column 4, line 1).

8. As per claim 5, Morisawa further disclose that plurality of selector setting also based on driver input patterns to the throttle (see at least figure 6, step 23).

9. With respect to claims 6-10, the limitations of these claims have been noted in the rejections above. Morisawa further disclose that the plurality of drivability modes corresponding to various degrees of vehicle acceleration (see at least figure 6, step 24 and column 5, lines 26-36). They are therefore considered rejected as set forth above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

12. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Morisawa as applied to claims 1-3 and 5-10 above, and further in view of Ehrenhardt et al. (6,019,702).

13. Morisawa disclose the claimed invention as discussed above except that the selector switch is a toggle switch. However, such toggle switch is one type of switch which is well known and used in the vehicle art, as shown in at least figure 1, item 75 of the Ehrenhardt et al. reference. It would have been obvious to one ordinary skill in the art to use the toggle switch as taught in the Ehrenhardt et al. as the selector switch for the operator to easy select the desired mode selection by just simply toggle the switch.

Conclusion

14. All claims are rejected.
